WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 7.

AN exchange pertinently inquired: If the Philippines are ours by conquest, why should we pay for them? If they are Spain's, why do we not require her to deliver the goods? If they really belong to the inhabitants, why do we not deal with them?

The short session of the fifty-fifth Congress convened Monday and will end March 4th next. There is much important work to be done, but it is likely that the Republicans will allow the session to go by without accomplishing anything.

We have received the official program of the Commercial Convention held at Louisville on the 11th and 12th of May last. It is very comprehensive, compelling, and a fine addition to the valuable literature of the State.

We acknowledge with pleasure an invitation to attend the reception and celebration in honor of the return of Kentucky's troops, to be held in Louisville the 12th, 13th and 14th inst. Much preparation has been made and it is expected to be an event of the year in respect to the demands of the occasion.

Mr. J. H. THOMAS, one of the veterans of the Republic, to a public note to THE HERALD, says: "Brother, when I want to remind myself of the words of our national motto, a comfortable man, I will send you an article signed 'J. H. Thomas'."

Of course, to be sure. How else would you expect us to know who wrote it?

We have just yanked the forms from the press to chronicle the fact that we read in the Louisville papers that there is a company of soldiers known as the Louisville Legion, and that the full membership will arrive home about the 15th of this month on a visit. Other Kentucky papers please copy.

It is said that the German card game "whist" is becoming very popular throughout the country. It is a little game played by the Republican politicians of Kentucky, called "seat," which is also becoming quite conventional. As usual, it takes two sides to play it—those who hold office and those who don't.

THE HERALD, having unthoughtfully stirred up the passions of the Republicans and gotten them to growling and spitting at each other from dark corners, feels that it is free to drop the prodding stick and let it to its own devices, to escape waving and, and—wait all right!—the fearful effects of a Bobby Burns poet.

The President's message to Congress is a rather bold and incisive affair, and hardly comes up to the expectation of the moment. The most of it is a narrative of events of the past and a recapitulation of affairs of the times with which everything is familiar. It is a voluminous document, dealing in generalities, and the real advice could have been given in much less space.

DEWEY'S victory at Manila was a magnificent affair, but his plan of action afterwards will give the United States no end of trouble. If, after annihilating the Spanish fleet, he had moved away from the Philippines or avoided any attempt at usurpation, much national complication would have been avoided. The fact that he stayed there and that something had to be done to uphold his plan of action, has been the cause of all this territorial expansion talk, and has placed in an attitude the troubles of which have just begun.

EVERY day we read across home care-worn newspaper reports, guaranteed to never fail, that the most serious and dangerous of these plagues of advice has lately come to our notice. It claims to be a cure for cholera and says you must shut the valves up in a pen and not let them have a drop of water or air to breathe until they are cured. It is no less than a lie, but it is a lie that has been so often repeated that it has become a part of the popular mind.

It is asserted by those who profess to know that the cholera is not now, as regards the Philippine question, that the treaty would not be ratified by the proper majority in the Senate. It is hoped that the question will stand this way, at least for the time being, and that ultimately the treaty will be defeated. The welfare of our great country and proper respect for our Constitution demand it. The people of the United States have a right to be heard in this matter, and the great majority of our people are not in favor of this territorial expansion policy—this colonial idea in regard to the Philippines.

THOSE rabid anti-Gospel-bible Republicans who can see no difference between our new election law and who seem to regard all who have anything to do with its operation as rank political thieves and robbers, will perhaps pass long enough in their denunciations to note that the State Election Board at Frankfort decided two weeks ago that the election law of 1890 was in favor of the Republicans. If the law and its projectors were as bad as they have been pictured, the Republicans would have been given no hearing and no decision whatever of a favorable nature.

The new peace treaty cannot become valid until it is ratified by a two-thirds majority of the U. S. Senate. And the financial clause cannot become operative until an appropriation of the stipulated amount of money is made by a bill originating in the Lower House of Congress. There is indication of considerable opposition in the Senate to the proposed treaty. In case the Senate rejects the treaty, the protocol would come up again for consideration by the two countries, and a new treaty would have to be negotiated. The rejection of the treaty would not compel the two countries to revert to a condition of war. It would simply compel a new bargain.

CONSIDERABLE gush has been indulged in lately by the newspapers because Lieut. Hobson, of Meridian, Miss., is said to have refused fifty thousand dollars for his position with the navy. He is said to have refused the money on the grounds that it was a bribe. He is said to have refused it on the grounds that it was a bribe. He is said to have refused it on the grounds that it was a bribe.

MURDERER MUST HANG.

Death Penalty in Case of Bob Brown, the Wholesale Murderer at Glasgow.

GLASGOW, KY., Dec. 5.—The Commonwealth's Attorney finished his argument to the jury in the Robert Brown case at 11:45 o'clock this afternoon, and the jury retired to their room. Their deliberation lasted but a few minutes, and when they returned to court at 1:15 o'clock, a verdict of guilty was announced, and Brown's punishment fixed at death. The jury's verdict was unanimous. The jury's verdict was unanimous. The jury's verdict was unanimous.

It is understood that there was an organization of men ready, if the jury should find Brown guilty, to take any other punishment than the death penalty, to take Brown from the hands of the officers before he could be taken to the jail and take him to his death.
